GOODBYE, FOLKS

It is with unutterable sadness that we announce our departure from this page where for the past 18 months we have sought to entertain you.

In that time we have made a name for ourselves. We have become by-words in thousands of homes. Hundreds of slender men are known as "Felix:" an equal number of other men made up on the puff ball standards are lovingly referred to as "Fink."

We have been quoted, and parodied and have been placed on the stage. Children have laughed over our adventures; older folks have refused to begin the day without us.

But life is a succession of partings, and deeply as we regret to go, go we must. Our creator, Mr. Tingle, says that the task of financing humor is too heavy. He has tried to make a go of us, but has failed. Now we are GOING.

We commend to you our friend, "Scoop" whose propensity for getting into trouble is great as our own. He will have our space daily, and good luck to him.

Again, friends, good bye.
